

7 - Historical Highlights

Davies Orchard has historical value in a couple of ways:

- It was one of the earliest orchards planted in BC, and
- It is home to a cluster of cottages that are a remnant of the pre-1950s era when steamship tourism was more popular than automobile tourism in BC.

The tradition of people from across the Metro Vancouver region coming to Bowen Island continues to this day. People come to get away from the city and back to nature such as, a quiet walk on a forested trail, or a view of Bridal Veil Falls just like they did in days of old.
